THE SPOUT SPRING TIMES.

VOL. 1.

SPOUTSPRING, KY., SEPT. 19, 1896.

NO. 35.

Elijah Brooks who is to hang on the 28th inst. at West Liberty for the murder of Gus McKenzie, was detected in a daring plan to escape. Several bars of the jail window had been loosened and assistance was being furnished from the out-side in the way of saws and a slung shot, which were concealed in his bed.

A young lady at Bagdad claimed Bryan's attention on the ground of cousinship. Mr Bryan shook hands with the lady and said if all his relation could vote for him he would be sure of election.

The Bourbon News says that J. J. Baker, the well known market gardener of near that city, exhibited at the Bourbon Fair last week a fine sample of coffee grown on his place. A half acre crop yielded him about thirty bushels. He has been using this home grown coffee on his family table for some time and says it is very good to drink. He believes it will pay better than any grain the farmer can raise.

The following is what the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage has to say of advertisements: A newspaper whose columns overflow with advertisements of business men has more influence in attracting attention to, and building up a city or town than any other agency that can be employed. People go where there is business. Capital and labor will locate where there is an enterprising community. No power is so strong to build up a town as a newspaper properly patronized.

The Daily Free Lance which started at Mt. Sterling about three months ago suspended publication last Saturday night.

During last week four banks failed in New Orleans, three of which were National and one State bank. Too liberal a use of other people's money by the bank officials caused the failure of the Union National. Two of its individual bookkeepers embezzled $592,000.

At Louisville, Kentucky, a scuttle thief fell asleep on the roof of a house from which he had stolen a coat, and his snoring awoke his slumbering victim in the room below and led to his arrest.
